Jackie Alnor is a radio show host on the Rapture Ready Radio network and the author of The Fleecing of Christianity, a book that exposes the false teachings seen on ‘Christian’ television. She produced the 1999 video "The Great Apostasy: The Lost Sign." Jackie founded Women on the Watch to highlight the research and work of women within the ministry of discernment. She has been researching and writing in this field since 1983.

Jewel Grewe founded Discernment Ministries in the late 1980s. She has continued with the publishing of the Discernment newsletter and speaking at conferences since that time. Discernment Ministries has a research library in Naugatuck, Connecticut and together with the Discernment Research Group endeavors to keep updated materials available through both their offices in the U.S. and South Africa.

Sarah Leslie is a writer, researcher, speaker and publisher. While raising her seven children, she was also a right-to-life leader, a professional counselor, and a leader in the early homeschooling movement. She currently serves on the Board of Directors of Discernment Ministries, along with her husband Lynn. She is a founding member of the Discernment Research Group which publishes the Herescope blog.
